DISCUSSES TARIFF REFORM

And Wildcat Banks to the Citizens Grand Rapids-A Synopsis of Mr. Springer's Address.

Local democracy had an inning last night with the Hon. William M. Springer of Illinois at bat. He struck out, not being able to reach McKinley's high protection curves.

Towards 8 o'clock the Salvation army held a seance in Campau square and at the close, the committee appointed to escort Mr. Springer to Hartman's hall formed the procession. Wurzburg's band went also. At the hall there were about 1,500 persons assembled, women and republicans constituting a majority of the audience. The only decorations in the hall were a crayon portrait of Grover Cleveland, another of Adlai and another of the speaker. Shortly after So clock the procession together with a dozen or so alleged vice presidents marched on the stage. Most of those that occupied sexts on the platform were democratic candidates. Edwin F. Unl introduced Mr. Springer by informing the audience that it had as-sembled to listen to a calm, unimpas-sioned, didactic discussion of the great princip es of tariff reform. Then be winked his other eye and the crowd discussion was to be performed by one of the sages of democracy, and the crowd cheered again. The ex-mayor said the issues between the two parties had never been more closely defined, and the result of the contest involved and the result of the contest involved the senate committee on commerce the future as well as the present. He and every effort will be made to give then introduced Mr. Springer, who was him an opportunity to inspect the given a short, but very enthusiastic reception. He said: "It gives me great and see the necessity for federal aid in given a short, but very enthusiastic re-ception. He said: "It gives me great ception. He said: "It gives me great pleasure to stand before you to discuss the issues of the campaign. I shall endeavor to present them in such a manper not to be offensive to anybody. Both of the leading candidates are too well known to need any discussion. Both have been before the people; both have been president, and both are men of sterling worth and character."

Mr. Springer attempted to show how protection had wrought injury to the great furniture factories of Grand Raphis, and continued:

Campaign of Education. This is a campaign of education, and I will endeavor to explain the po-sition of the two great parties on the tariff question. It is not a difficult question to comprehend. The demo-cratic party believes that whoever has anything to sell should be permitted to take it to the market at which he can get the most money for it, and also the right to buy where he can get the most goods for his money. There is but one exception to this latter rule; that the government may impose a revenue only, and in this way a suffirevenue taxes, shou d be raised to pay the expenses of the government, honestly and economically administered.
In other words, the democratic party believes in the doctrines of seiling and republican party insists that a tariff shall be laid for protection. What is otection? It means that a tariff upon foreign goods shall be imposed upon such goods as come into competition with goods produced in this country, and that the tariff shall be so high upon foreign goods that, when added t their price, which is always done, the goods made in the United States of like character may be raised in price to correspond with the prices paid for foreign goods, increased to the amount of the taruff. This is protection, and this alone. It means, therefore, an increased price for consumable commodities; not only upon commodities produced in this country but upon fortarif. Protection, therefore, means en masse. higher prices for many of the necessaries of life, but does not bring in-creased compensation for labor, nor to farmers for their products, the prices of which are regulated by the prices fixed in Liverpool, the free trade market of the world."

Banking france. Upon banking issues Mr. Springer "Senator Sherman and other leaders of the republican party are trying to distract public attention from the tard by claiming that the democratic party is in favor of state banks and state bank currency. This is an effort to evade the great issue. Of the great and paramount issue, at this time in this campaign, but it cannot be downed or obscured by the desperate cry of wildcat currency. The clause in the democratic platform favoring a repeal of the internal revenue tax of 10 per cent on the circulation of state banks does not make the propriety of issuing state bank notes a party issue. It is merely an ex-pression of disapprobation of the taxing power of the general government to interfere with the reserved rights of the state. The tax on the circulation of state banks was not imposed for the purpose of raising revenue to support the government, but was for the purif supressing the notes issued by state banks in order to give national money. Congress has no more right to mpose a tax upon the notes f state banks in order to suppress them than it has to impose a tax upon the deposits and discounts of state and private banks

Flavoring

NATURAL FRUIT FLAVORS.

Of great strength, Flavor as delicately and deliciously as the fresh fruit.

"If congress can rightfully and constimutionally exercise such a power, it could also impose such a tax upon the rents of land as to makelands worthless as investments. However desirable each a policy might be regarded by some people, it would be a most dangerous and unwarrantable exercise of the taxing power of the general government. The prohibitory tax upon the circulating notes of state banks is without any warrant in the constitution, and the courts would undoubtedly so hold if a test case were brought before them. Such a tax violates the principle of uniformity which the could also impose such a tax upon the rents of land as to makelands worthless hold if a test case were brought before them. Such a tax violates the principle of uniformity which the constitution requires in the levying of all taxes. State banks are not an issue before the country at this time, and the people camp the diverted from the consideration of the tariff question by holding up before them the specter of impossible wildcat currency. There is no place in the policy of the democratic party for uncurrent wildcat state bank notes; no place for unstable money or a fluctuating currency. We demand that all paper money, whether state or national, shall be kept at par with and redeemable in coin."

SENATOR FRYE. Preparations Being Made to Receive the Distinguished Republican.

Local republicans are making arrangements for the greatest rally of the campaign tonight. Senator William P. Frye of Maine will discuss the issues of the day from a republican standpoint.
At the meeting tonight all the members of the various republican committees, ward, township, county and congressional, all officers of republican clubs and all veterans of the campaign of 1840 are invited to occupy seats on Mr. Uhl continued by stating that the body of the hall have been secured for the local republican clubs. Senator Frye will arrive in the city at noon and will be taken in charge of by members of the republican committees and the board of trade. He is chairman of the proposed improvement, Between the hours of 7 and 8 o'clock tomorrow night an informal reception will be tendered the senator in the pariors of the Morton house.

ELEVENTH WARD CLUB.

George Clapperton Delivers a Stirring Republican Address.

Interest in campaign work is steadily increasing in the Eleventh Ward republican club and its meetings are growing larger each week. Lively campaign songs are song by a quartet of men and women and an organ has been provided for the use of the club. Last night the club-room was well niled and George H. Clapperton dehvered a masterly discourse on the tariff question. He cited statistics to prove that the McKinley laws has resulted in elevating the condition of labor and has proven itself to be just what it was intended. It has increased wages and the savings of the laboring tariff on goods purchased abroad, but this tariff must be for the purpose of them from the invasion of f reign revenue only, and in this way a suffievinced in Mr. Clapperton's explanation of this question and the meeting was one of the best held in the eleventh ward.
